

As the proud owner of a caregiving company serving New Orleans and the surrounding areas for over a decade, I bring both professional experience and personal passion to the work I do every day. With more than 10 years of hands-on experience supporting individuals facing a wide range of health conditions and diseases, I've built a company that stands firmly on compassion, trust, and genuine connection.

Our small, dedicated team believes in building strong, personal relationships with every client we serve. We understand that caregiving is not just about meeting needs—it's about creating comfort, familiarity, and dignity for every person in our care.

My journey into caregiving is deeply personal. Living with my own health conditions has given me a unique perspective and an even deeper empathy for those we serve. It fuels my commitment to treat every client not as a case, but as a person—worthy of respect, kindness, and high-quality care tailored to their individual needs.

At the heart of our company is a simple belief:
"Garden Care is where life blooms".
